

Decatur, Georgia-- Deemed "Outstanding Georgia Citizen" by the Georgia General Assembly, Sr. Public Relations specialist Angela Moore announces her candidacy for the 'special election' as State Representative in the 90th House District of Georgia; a seat recently vacated.

Angela began her Democratic life of service working alongside Pamela Stephenson during her first election and her re-elections, time and again. Because of Angela's dedication to Georgia, Rep. "Positively Pam" bestowed upon Angela a Resolution - Georgia of House Representatives for #HD92 siting the good works she had done district-wide.*

Angela has proven this to be a fitting title by serving on the Board of Directors for the YMCA childcare academy of South Dekalb, Educational Chair for the Nationally Acclaimed American Business Women's Association.

Angela Moore is no stranger to serving in the political arena. Angela was the first woman of color to run for Georgia's Secretary of state in 2006, and though unsuccessful in that contest,

Angela went on to serve as the Chair for the Senate Seat District 43 of the Advisory Committee, and as the House District Chair for the 92 (now 90th District) as well as serving as Communication Chair for Dekalb Democratic party. Angela is a mother, aunt, entrepreneur, and a passionate advocate for children in the Foster Care System who has established a foundation that provides donations to children who are in-between state care and adoption.

Angela says she has more to give by continuing the good-works of her immediate past representative by ushering in and fostering a new generation of strength and ethical leadership.

The special contest is slated for February 9, 2021. The district seat covers parts of Rockdale, DeKalb, and Henry countries. Angela says, "Georgia is on my mind"
